TELSTAR-GOULD FACULTIES TO VIE IN BENEFIT HOOP GAME AT TELSTAR SATURDAY NIGHT

Preparations are well underway for the basketball game Saturday, Dec. 4, between the Gould Faculty and the Telstar Faculty at the Telstar Gymnasium. Telstar wants revenge for its narrow defeat a year ago and the Gould Faculty naturally wants to repeat.

The Gould squad is led by Charlie Hurd, the hero of last year's victory, and includes Don Feeney, Steve Chandler, Dick Dolyen, David Myers, Nick Litchfield, Bill Crosbie, and Jerry Weir. The Telstar squad, coached by Phil Taylor, is made up of Glenn Bangs, Norm Emery, Jim Fiske, Tim Kersey, Dan Hannon, Bill Morton, Rick Roy, John Applin, Pete Brown, Dave Denison, and Gerry Durgin. The female faculty members will lead cheers.

COMMENTS FROM THE OFFICE OF THE TOWN MANAGER

At a special meeting of the Selectmen held Monday night, the request to plow all of the Broad Street sidewalk was discussed. It was voted not to plow due to the lack of equipment capable of keeping it clear all winter. Another vote was taken for the manager and road foreman to investigate the possibility of having equipment demonstrated that could clear all the sidewalks in the village.

Our problem on the upper end of Broad Street stems mainly from the fact there is quite a distance between the sidewalk and the street. If we plow with the present equipment we will create a path that will soon be full of snow and we will be unable to remove it due to the obstructions in the area between the sidewalk and street. We feel the only equipment that can serve will have to be some type blower that can throw the snow out where we can pick it up. Anything purchased to clear one area must be adequate to do all the town.

Elwyn N. Dickey

The first game which begins at 7 p. m. is between teams from Telstar Junior High, always of local interest. It is stimulating to see the stars of the future in action and the boys competitive spirit is high. Members of the squad are: Lawrence Bennett, Malcolm Bennett, Steven Blanchard, Robert Brown, Richard Croteau, Vernon Davis, Warren Ellsworth, Jeffrey Fleet, John Learned, Jeffrey Little, Kenneth Mason, Chris Olson, Lester Richardson, Jeffrey Roseberry, Alan Seames, Bruce Swan, James Sweetser, John Taylor, Mark Thurlow, Richard Walker, Erland Waterhouse, Bradley Wight, Mark Wight and Thomas Wight.

Between the halves of the second game the Christmas Gift Basket will be awarded. The area's businesses have been very generous, and the basket, now on display at the Bethel Spa, is a real prize.

COOPERATIVE EXTENSION TO HOLD MEETINGS AT TELSTAR

The role and functions of the community conservation commissions will be the subject of a program on Tuesday evening, Dec. 7, at 7:30, at Telstar Regional High School.

Because of the new laws passed by the 105th Legislature, it is vital that planning boards, municipal officers, and conservation commissions themselves, as well as the general public understand the role of the conservation commission group.

Sterling Dow, chairman of Maine Association of Conservation Commissions; Randolph West, Soil Conservationist; Paul Broccolotti, Community Development Specialist, University of Maine Extension; and Ruth C. DeCoteau, Oxford County Extension Agent, will help bring the attention of the audience to the needs of people in the community taking an active part in pursuing and improving their environment as it relates to the new laws.

This meeting is part of a series on ENVIRONMENTAL THRUST, which is being held throughout Oxford County. The next meeting in Bethel, at the same place, will be on Dec. 14—the subject "Planning Boards"—how they can function effectively according to the new laws, and what resources and helps are available to help them make their own decisions.

The Oxford County Cooperative Extension Service is sponsoring these meetings in cooperation with other Oxford County and area agencies concerned with the environment.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Parker and family of Devon, Conn., spent the Thanksgiving week end with Mr. and Mrs. Guy Parker Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Stevens.

ANDOVER MEETING RECESSED UNTIL TUESDAY, DEC. 7

A very small percentage of Andover voters were in attendance at a meeting held on Tuesday, Nov. 30, to consider the formation of a water district. It was voted to recess until Tuesday, Dec. 7, at 7:30 at the town hall, with the hope that the required number of voters (20% of the number of votes cast for governor in the last gubernatorial election) will be present. All registered voters in the town of Andover are eligible and urged to attend.

SKIING DIRECTOR NAMED AT SUNDAY RIVER SKI SCHOOL

Peter Anderson, an American certified Ski Instructor, has been named director of skiing for the Sunday River Ski Area Ski School, according to Ray Starr, manager director of the school.

Anderson has a wide background in ski teaching. He was associated with the Sepp Rueschp Ski School in Stowe, Vt., for the past two years and has spent several winters teaching skiing in Austria and Germany. During his summers in Europe he played in the European golf tour as a professional.

Among the ski school programs Anderson will direct is an intensive training program for skiers wishing to become instructors in the American Ski Technique.

DISTRICT 44 DIRECTORS TO MEET MONDAY, DEC. 6

The board of directors of S. A. D. 44 will hold a regular meeting at the Ethel Bisbee School, Bethel, next Monday evening Dec. 6, at 7:30.

The season's first snowfall of any quantity arrived on Thanksgiving Day, as nearly a foot of snow accumulated in a day-long storm. Another six inches or so was on the ground Tuesday morning.

MRS. STEVENS TO CO-ORDINATE BETHEL'S ANNUAL LIVING NATIVITY SCENE

Mrs. Ronald Stevens will be this year's co-ordinator for the Bethel Living Nativity Pageant. The Eighth Annual Living Nativity will be held on Sunday, Dec. 10.

A meeting to make plans will be held on Sunday, Dec. 5, from three to four o'clock at the home of Mrs. Charles Farrar on Spring Street.

All those who have so willingly helped in the past are urged to attend this meeting and any new faces who are willing to give a few hours of their time in the spirit of Christmas will be most happily welcomed.

This is Bethel's Eighth Living Nativity and organization has been developed to a point where it takes a minimum of time per person.

Your involvement can be as little as your schedule permits. Don't wait for a personal invitation—you are welcome and needed.

REBEL HOOPSTERS SCHEDULED TO OPEN SEASON FRIDAY

Telstar Regional High School's boys' junior varsity and the girls' and boys' varsity basketball squads are slated to christen the 1971-72 court season on Friday, Dec. 3.

The girls' varsity hoop squad, coached by Sandra Colby, will travel to Jay for a 3:30 contest Friday afternoon.

On Friday evening, Coach Phil Taylor's boys' junior varsity and varsity quintets entertain the Jay Tigers, with JV action starting at 6 o'clock.

Next Tuesday, the girls will travel to Hall-Dale for an afternoon contest, and the boys will have a home court assignment with Hall-Dale in the evening.

Thanksgiving Guests

The descendants of the Hendrickson family held their Thanksgiving get-together at the Legion Hall in West Paris this year. Those attending were Mrs. Miriam Morgan, Sheldon Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Teddy Bowen and daughter, Framingham, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilbur Jr. and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thurlow, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Thurlow, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Thurlow, Leslye, Mark and Lisa, Mr. and Mrs. Larrie Wilday and family.

Mrs. Jessie Andrews had dinner with her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Andrews at Bryant Pond.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Thurlow and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Thurlow, had a Thanksgiving dinner last Sunday with Patty's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Baker at Norway, in a family gathering of the Baker brothers and sisters.

Winfield and Dale Buck took dinner with his daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Poland. Mrs. Vera Buck worked at the Andrews nursing home, South Paris, Thursday.

Mrs. Robert Gleason entertained their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Brown and three children. There were four other boarders with them who had dinner there, too.

Mrs. Zella Silver had as guests Mr. and Mrs. Allison Benson, Paul and Pamela, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Morgan, Craig and Wendy, and a friend of Craig's from Vermont, also Dick Silver.

Kenneth Kennison and children made a Thanksgiving dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Jamie Kennison, three children, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Kennison, two children, Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Waterhouse, two children, Nancy Cole, two children and John Haines.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Bane and son, Ronnie, who was home from his ship, went to Bethel Thursday to partake of the festival dinner with their son and family, Douglas Bane.

Mr. and Mrs. Teddy Bowen and daughter were home over the Thanksgiving holiday. They live in Framingham, Mass., Mrs. Bowen is the daughter of Mrs. Miriam Morgan.

Mr. and Mrs. Taisto Koskela entertained Elaine and daughter, Karen Bean, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Mason and Heather, Linda Koskela and Thomas Gallagher, Thursday. Rose Polk was guest of Karen Bean's for the day.

Mrs. June Demarest is working at the Chapel Valley nursing home.

Mrs. Harry Benson and Robert Benson will join with Mr. and Mrs. Roger Benson and two children for a Sunday Thanksgiving celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Lenwood Andrews entertained the following Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hill, and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Runyon, Pine Point; Archie Farnum and Myrtle Lapham, South Paris.

Mrs. Lila Dean spent the long week end holidays with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sweetser on Turkey Ridge, Norway.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Demarest had dinner with their three sons, Tommy who is attending U. of M. in Augusta was home for the holidays.

Donald Demarest was one of the few lucky hunters this year and tagged an eight-point buck.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Poland and family had as Thanksgiving guests, Mr. and Mrs. Dana Bean and six children of Bethel. After the main course was served the following went to Mr. and Mrs. Phelps Poland's at West Paris for dessert:

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Poland and daughter, Dana Bean and family; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wing, Ricky and Kelly; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Poland and family; Kay Tamminen; Mrs. Terry from Sangerville.

Bobby Benson of Windsor, Conn., is spending the holidays with Mrs. Florence Benson.

Mrs. Leon Verrill is caring for Eva Bowers' baby while she works. Mrs. Bowers is cooking at Redding Nursing home. Mrs. Verrill also cares for Mrs. Marilyn Huston's two children during the day as she works at the Lodgeview Memorial Home.

The water situation is quite serious at present. The wells are low or empty around here as there has been so little rain this fall. Lets hope this snow will melt and help some and maybe a good rain and warm spell would do the trick for waterless wells.

The friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mason joined with them at the Mollycodd Motel to help them celebrate their 25th wedding reception Saturday evening from 6 to nine p. m. Those from away were Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Mass., and Steven Mason were home over the holidays. They returned to Massachusetts Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Christoph, So. Lancaster; Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Mason, So. Lancaster. There were about 125 who came to wish them well.

Mrs. Goldie Mason had charge of the refreshments. She had several helpers, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Griffin and Dr. Roderick and Mrs. Carruthers, Stoneham, Mass. were also present.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Carruthers (nee Rosanne Mason) Stoneham, Arthur Andrews, Bridgton,

Mass., and Steven Mason were home over the holidays. They returned to Massachusetts Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Mason returned home to South Lancaster Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Davis attended the home wedding and reception of their niece, Nancy Andrews and Donnie Youker, on Saturday, held at her parents home, Mr. and Mrs.

Arthur Andrews, Bridgton.

— Mrs. Colista Morgan —

As I walked down the road on November 21 I could hear the tinkling of bell-like music. The wind was wild, sweeping down the road ahead of it, bringing thousands of pieces of snow together and I was reminded of the tinkling of bell-like music.

"Bills jingled on the hill. And chimed upon the hill. As through the count, sped."

There was no greater happiness than these bells are very. But Oh, to be a child. And hear the sleigh.

I lingered for some time. The day before Thanksgiving, I climbed Noyes Mountain, clear and bracing, with snow in the air. I breathed lightly as I started springing road thinking, this the last time I'd hear the leaves beneath my feet. I'd probably see snow.

This rustic road was rough with frozen crystals I stepped. But ahead beauty which was to be seen when I reached the arches trees on its ambling way.

The crisp air was urging me on among revealed secrets. The apartments kept hidden mer as they tended the were now plainly visible.

Passing through where loggers had been didn't linger. It looked and wasteful.

Following no trail among the tall pines, first locks which made a thin here I loosened my coat on a moss covered log.

Each season has a different and each a different this time all was silent, ing branches, just the shikadees busy above, fine magic world, fresh, clear. Unfurled before landscape like a picture changing skies. Far below pond and Sanborn River a glossy shine. Yesterday singing but today very I kept upward until I was to the old Garland place.

GREENWOOD CITY

— Mrs. Collette Morgan, Corres. —
As I walked down the road on November 21 I could hear the merry tinkling of bell-like music.

The wind was wild and while sweeping down pond had pushed the ice ahead of it breaking it into thousands of pieces. They jingled together and I was reminded of the sleigh bells of winters long ago.

Bells jingled on the harness. And chimed upon the hills. As through the countryside we sped.

There was no greater thrill. These bells are very special. With the happiness they bring. But Oh, to be a child tonight. And hear the sleigh bells ring.

Marion Olson.

I lingered for some time to listen. The day before Thanksgiving, I climbed Noyes Mountain. It was clear and bright with a feel of snow in the air. I buttoned my coat lightly as I started up the spring road thinking that this was the last time I'd hear the rustle of leaves beneath my feet. Next time I'd probably see snowshoes.

This rustic road was winding and rough with frozen crystals where I stepped. But ahead was scenic beauty which was to be my compensation when I reached the top. So I followed its varied windings under the arched trees as it went on its ambling way.

The crisp air was invigorating; urging me on among the newly revealed secrets. The shaggy bird apartments kept hidden all summer as they tended their families were now plainly visible.

Passing through one section where loggers had been at work I didn't linger. It looked so desolate and wasteful.

Following no trail now I went among the tall pines, firs, and hemlocks which made a thick shelter. Here I loosened my coat and rested on a moss covered log.

Each season has a different setting and each a different tone. At this time all was silent; no moving branches, just the friendly chickadees busy above. It was a fine magic world, fresh, crisp and clear. Unfurled before me was the landscape like a picture with ever changing skies. Far below was the pond and Sanborn River frozen to a glossy shine. Yesterday they were singing but today very still. I kept upward until I was almost to the old Garland place. I faced the craggy bulwarked mountains high above the wooded vales: Patch, Edgecomb, Long, Overset, Saddleback and others parading off into the distance, a shadowy blur on the horizon. Most mountains are impressive to look upon. Their varied colored splendor spreads out and to the horizon. Some reveal lonely stretches of forests.

Returning directly down the mountain from where I was I then turned right to avoid the mess of cuttings which is truly the right word. Here I found plenty of hemlock cones to take home. Later I'll spray them with color to use.

I returned refreshed and glad; I had climbed even though at times those juniper bushes near the Garland place which had "taken over" the old pasture nearly "took over" me too. The next day I said:

"Howdy, Mr. Winter!

If it isn't you again!

Haven't had a visit from you since I dunno when.

Thought I heard you laughin'— musta been a week ago—

When the North wind shouted just as it began to blow;

Thought I heard you chuckle when the grass was turned to brown.

And the withered flowers lost their holt and fluttered down.

Hear you at the window;

hear you in the chimney, too—

Howdy, Mister Winter

howdy, howdy do!

SUNDAY RIVER

— Mrs. R. M. Fleet, Corres. —

Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Yates and family were dinner guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Myshall of Andover.

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Lavallee expected to be with her parents in Massachusetts for the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Estes Yates had ten of their children and grandchildren at dinner Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Estes Yates were Sunday dinner guests of their son, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Yates at West Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Burk are the proud parents of another baby girl, born Friday. Heidi Burk is staying with Barbara Yates while her mother is away.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Fleet were dinner guests of their son and family Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Lavallee are moving into their new home.

The report is that R. M. Bean is in the hospital again. We hope he will be better and home very soon.

John Harrington was in town from Bethel Friday.

Roland Fleet fell breaking a rib and is having much pain and discomfort this week.

Our first snow storm came as a Thanksgiving Day present. There was 1/2 inches which should be a good sign for a white Christmas. The snow plow had to come twice, also sand the hills the first trip out.

OCTOBER FIGURES SHOW 0.2% RISE IN C. P. I.

The Consumer Price Index rose 0.2 percent in October to 122.6 (1967=100) the U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics has reported. Prices for new cars, apparel commodities, and household services increased, while indexes for most food items declined. The October index was 3.8 percent above a year ago, the smallest year to year change since February 1968.

On a seasonally adjusted basis, the increase in the October index was 0.1 percent, the smallest rise since April 1967. The increase in October compares with 0.2 in September, and an average monthly increase of 0.4 percent during the 6 months from March through August. After seasonal adjustment, the food price index averaged unchanged in October after declining in September. The index for commodities other than food decreased 0.1 percent, the first decrease since February of this year. The index for service charges rose 0.2 percent in October, compared with increases of 0.4 to 0.6 in the preceding 5 months. The slower rate of increase was due in part to the regular annual adjustment to the health component of the index.

The September to October change in the index does not reflect exclusively changes in prices since the wage-price freeze went into effect on August 15, since some prices are collected only every three months or less frequently. The October index also includes price changes for items exempt from the freeze, such as raw foods, or subject to special regulations which permit increases under certain conditions.

The index for food purchased in grocery stores dropped 0.3 percent which is the usual decline in October. The effects of lower prices for most food items more than offset higher prices for eggs, most fresh vegetables, and a few fresh fruits. Prices of most fruits declined considerably more than they usually do in October. Prices of dairy products, and cereal and bakery products declined contrasessionally. Declines in meat and chicken prices were smaller than usual for October. The index for food consumed away from home—restaurant meals and snacks—rose 0.3 percent, the smallest increase in 7 months.

Over three-fourths of the rise in the price index for nonfood commodities resulted from increases in the indexes for new cars and apparel commodities. The rise in the new car index, which reflects the introduction of 1972 models into the CPI, was less than usual for October and the smallest September to October change since 1965. The increase in the index was due primarily to smaller discounts on 1972 models in October compared with discounts on 1971 models in September. The rise in apparel prices reflected the introduction of fall and winter clothing in some areas.

The small rise in the service index in October reflected the fact that charges for many services increased at a slower pace, including mortgage interest rates, home repair charges, and hospital costs; others remained unchanged such as local transit fares and utilities; and some declined including health insurance, auto insurance, parking fees, and movie admissions. The decline in health insurance was due to the annual retained earnings adjustment. A few items, such as dental fees, property taxes, and property insurance, recorded larger increases than last month.

Two methods were used in analyzing the October CPI in relation to the wage-price freeze: one examines the behavior of individual prices in the index and the other analyzes contributions of index components to the change in the all items index.

The October index includes more than 120,000 price comparisons based upon prices directly collected by BLS, of which about 80 percent or 99,000 cover the September-October period. About 85 percent of these prices are for food at home items, 6 percent are for nonfood items, and 9 percent are for services. If the CPI were based upon only these monthly comparisons, it would have shown no change between September and October.

Analysis of the monthly price comparisons, without regard to their weight in the index, shows that almost 87,000, or about 90 percent, remained unchanged or declined between September and October.

PINEHENGE SCHOOL RECEIVES 15 DESIGNS FOR FUTURE PHYSICAL PLANT
Pinehenge School recently received 15 unique designs for its future physical plant from students at the Rhode Island School of Design. As part of a course taught by Professor Zane Andersen this fall, they spent a week end at Pinehenge for the purpose of intensively evaluating an environment and then designing structures that fit the surroundings, and meet the needs and economic means of the people who live there.

They came equipped with cameras, tape recorders, sketch pads, and imagination. After physically surveying the school, they spent a great deal of time informally talking to students and staff about how they felt about Pinehenge in general and what kind of physical changes they envisioned. Before leaving, they spent an evening with the directors/faculty, Bill Dillon, Tom Marino, and Glenna Plaisted, and discussed the same things, as well as the projected economic picture of the school.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

The Comment from the Office of the Town Manager in the November 25th issue of the Citizen were a pleasure to read: The matter of plowing the sidewalk on Broad Street had been discussed by the selectmen, but no action was taken "as they would like the reaction of more residents in the area".

This is an instance of a fine spirit of cooperation, and quite as it should be in a democracy. Of course we would love to have plowed sidewalks, all sidewalks if possible, as otherwise we are cooped up in the house for six months of the year, being unable to take a health walk.

Now we would like to see a similar attitude in the matter discussed in the previous week's issue, namely that of plowing the roads. The announcement was to the effect that house-owners are not allowed to dispose of their snow onto the street.

This necessity arises only when the municipal plowmen pile a mountain of snow against our driveways.

How then should our private plowmen dispose of the snow which he laboriously removes, bit by bit, to gain an entry?

I do not feel competent in the matter, but with a question mark, advance some suggestions, in an attempt to stimulate thinking, and I am sure some brilliant ideas will come forward.

a.—First, perhaps, we must ask ourselves for whom the roads are being plowed. Is it for highway traffic which uses our village for a throughway? This precisely is the greatest controversy in the battle against highways. People do not want their town to become a through-way with its attendant dangers to life and limb. (Only very recently there was an item in a newspaper of a boy of 3 and a girl of 15 having been killed in a small town—by passing traffic).

The answer to this presumably, would be "no, the roads are primarily cleared for the benefit of the citizens of Bethel. Then we are being inconvenienced for our own convenience?"

b.—Perhaps the municipality should have a second vehicle behind the one plowing the street which would demolish the barricade in front of every private driveway?

c.—Or else, gangs of welfare recipients (the young and healthy among them) be organized in groups who will work with snow-blowers purchased with welfare money. This would, in addition, be a great moral gain as it will restore the self-respect of welfare recipients who will feel that they are earning their check.

d.—In addition, our flower children roaming the streets unable to find jobs, willing to help and possibly to earn something too, could be organized in groups who would do it with spades and told how and where to dispose of the snow.

The solution to this problem surely is not more difficult than going to Mars!

Sincerely,
Bronislaw Y. Noy

TEACHER PROFILE

Mrs. Karen Andrews is one of the grade 5 teachers at the Woodstock Elementary School this year. She graduated from North Miami High in Miami, Fla., in 1961. She was then active in the Honoria Service Club and Honor Guard, which was a precision drill team.

Mrs. Karen Andrews

Mrs. Andrews received her B. S. degree in education from Bob Jones University in Greenville, S. C., in 1963. In college she was active in Theta Mu Theta Society and a cheerleader for the Basileon Society.

Her teaching experiences have been one year at Arrington Elementary in Greenville, S. C., at the 4th grade level and previously at Woodstock in grade 3.

Some of her outside interests have included camp counseling, Sunday School teaching and youth work. Present interests are sewing, painting, water skiing and swimming.

The Andrews reside in West Sumner and are a teaching family. Her husband Chester teaches grade 6 at Woodstock. They have a young son, Jeffrey Neil, who is now 11 months old.

TELSTAR R. H. S. NEWS UPTON

FISH AND GAME CLUB

With 31 members, we've been pretty busy. We held a raffle on a rifle the first of November. Raymond Littlefield of Andover was the lucky winner. We organized a deer pool, but we weren't very successful as the deer were scarce this season. Danny Kennah was in charge. We elected officers, Greg Cummings and Mark Bailey as presidents and Kathy Jo Morrill as secretary. In the next few weeks we will be making wood-duck boxes and placing them in various spots in this area. We are planning to have a movie on the White-tailed Deer the first week of December, everyone is welcome. — Kathy Jo Morrill.

SPANISH CLUB

Whether some of you Spanish students know it or not, there is a Spanish Club! We have elected officers and they are: President, Al York; Vice President, Wayne Cummings; Secretary-Treasurer, Sherry Hutchinson.

The Spanish Club hopes to earn enough money to take a trip to Spain over April vacation. Unfortunately we need more students to go with us, so we would like to have more students involved in the Club. Also if there are any students that would like to go that haven't taken Spanish, and are not in the club, you too, are eligible! Just see one of the officers or Mr. Otero-Otero — Sherry Hutchinson, Club Secretary.

Thursday night a busload of Telstar students and faculty are going to the University of Maine at Farmington to the UMF Theatre presentation of "Romeo and Juliet". Telstar has a special interest in this play because the part of Juliet's mother is being played by former Telstar student Christine Greenleaf. For the past three years Chris was an active member of the Telstar Drama Club participating in many of their productions. — Betsy Stowell.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Douglass observed Thanksgiving Sunday with their families. Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Greenleaf and three boys, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Davis and three children, Mr. and Mrs. Tibbels and baby of Bethel, Mr. and Mrs. John Douglass and Karen of Pownal, Nelson Douglass and guest, Sheila McMorrell of Portland. The John Douglasses are holding open house housewarming next Sunday.

Thursday, Thanksgiving day, we got a big bite of winter with a heavy snowfall. It changed plans for several people. Instead of the 14 guests we had planned for, we had three: Mr. and Mrs. Donald Slosser, Farmington and Larry Wade, of Dover, Mass.

State Grange Master Ronald Bagley and his wife of Augusta, Gene Bagwell and son of Bethel, met Monday evening with four Grange members at Fred Judkins' home to discuss local Grange affairs.

Albert Judkins of West Peru visited relatives in town Monday evening and got a snowplow.

The Ladies Aid held a meeting with Lucille Largesse resigned as secretary and Merna Allen was appointed to fill out the year.

My froggy friend from Connecticut will wonder again if I've been imbibing in some strange potion, but I watched a robin hopping around in the snow Saturday, Nov. 27. Others in town have reported seeing one or more. Also they have been seen frequently in Errol.

A couple of years ago, someone cut down and carried away a coyote which Fred Judkins had hung on his porch. Since then he has hung them more burglar-proof. This fall, he retained the animal, but its bushy tail was cut off. Maybe some disappointed hunter had to have something for a trophy.

ROUND MOUNTAIN GRANGE #162

We hasten to make a correction in last week's news items. The public supper on Dec. 4 is at Round Mountain — not Bear Mountain. There will also be a food and candy sale to help Santa Claus.

And don't forget our 3 point meeting Dec. 11. Bear River Grange is serving the supper at 6:30.

SCHOOL LUNCH MENUS—SAD 44 WEEK OF DEC. 6-10

Monday: Sloppy Joe on rice or biscuit, peas, fruit, biscuit and butter, milk.

Tuesday: Oven fried chicken, mashed potato, spinach, apple cake, mixed breads and butter, milk.

Wednesday: Macaroni and cheese, chopped ham, beets, juice, cookies, bread and butter, milk.

Thursday: Hot dog in home made bun, carrot and celery sticks, pudding, bread and peanut butter, milk.

Friday: Hamburg-cheese pizza, green beans, fruit, bread and butter, milk.

O sun, up there, so high in the sky, who don't you come down and greet me?

A fish swimming has, no fear, but if he jumps out he quietly dies.

A snowflake was here, and I can't find it out there. I am very sad.

The moon is like the summer sun shining through the gray, leaf-filled trees.

At midnight, very dark, An owl screeches all at once and breaks the silence.

Frogs are loud at night When night falls, all is darkened but morning will come.

I walked down the street, dark, lonely, nothing was there. But something was there.

As the snow comes down and it hits the ground, sharply, the birds migrate south.

The doe runs quickly in and out of the pine trees she's right out of sight.

The rain fell softly making the pretty flowers lift their heads to smile.

Winter is pretty when his clothes are on the ground and trees bow so low.

I saw a blackbird in a honey suckle tree singing me a song.

Nature is pretty with its trees, lakes and bird-ies Oh I love nature.

When down at the lake we sit and watch some rabbits running around it.
